In this 5-part video, Douglas P. Horne, who served on the staff of the Assassination Records Review Board and who is the author of the five-volume book Inside the Assassination Records Review Board: The U.S. Government's Final Attempt to Reconcile the Conflicting Medical Evidence in the Assassination of JFK, discusses deceit and deception in the official autopsy of John F. Kennedy. See FFF president Jacob Hornberger's article "Altered History: The FFF Video Project on the Autopsy of John F. Kennedy," which introduces the launch of this video and two related e-books (99 cents each): JFK's War with the National-Security Establishment: Why Kennedy Was Assassinated by Douglas P. Horne and The Kennedy Autopsy by Jacob G. Hornberger.

so what does the cover-up mean let's examine some of these ideas together the US government controlled the evidence on the JFK assassination especially the medical evidence not the Mafia not the Cubans and not the Soviet Union the widespread destruction and alteration of evidence therefore implies a u.s. government need to lie about the facts of JFK's death now you can argue about why they would want to lie but it's clear that the government wanted to and did lie about the facts of JFK's death LBJ's primary concern in establishing the Warren Commission was not fact fighting it was rumor control one of his primary goals was to shut down other investigations to shut down congressional investigations in the House and Senate and to shut down a Texas inquest which he knew was coming he succeeded in shutting down those other investigations with the Warren Commission there's a memo that exists today written by a Warren Commission staffer called the Eisenberg memo was written by Melvin Eisenberg he recorded the statements of Earl Warren made during Earl Warren's first meeting with his death here is a copy on your screen of the Eisenberg memo you can see from this memo that LBJ's primary concern was rumor control he was concerned that others had blamed the assassination on a faction which wanted him in power and he didn't like that rumor Chief Justice Warren also mentioned to his staff that LBJ had used the fear of nuclear war to

LBJ had used the fear of nuclear war to twist Warren's arm and to get him to chair this commission which Earl Warren did not want to chair but LBJ trotted out the world war 3 cover story and used it to instill fear in the Warren and Warren agreed to chair the Commission now there's no doubt in my mind that this this excuse or this cover story was used by government officials at a high level with many of the mid-level people involved in to cover up most of the mid-level people involved in the cover-up were not guilty of anything sinister they were following orders and they probably thought they were doing something patriotic to help their country and to defend against a third world war the Kennedy family did not believe the official story they believed there had been a large domestic conspiracy to kill JFK and they sent a family emissary artist Bill Walton to the Soviet Union to so inform the Soviet government this story about the Kennedy family's beliefs regarding the assassination immediately after the event and about the emissary they sent to the Soviet Union he's in the book one hell of a gamble and I highly recommend that anyone interested in this story read this book which is co-authored by Naftali and for Cinco the author's accessed KGB files which recorded the content of the meetings between the Kennedy family emissary Bill Walton and the KGB agent Georgi bolshakov in Moscow so I believe this is an accurate source for what the Kennedy family representative told the Russians at the time and what they told them was we don't hold you responsible for the assassination we don't think you had anything to do with it we believe it was a large domestic conspiracy most people I know don't study the assassination because they think it's a parlor game or something fun to do they

parlor game or something fun to do they study it because they want to understand whether or not their government told them the truth they want to understand what exactly happened in 1963 so why was JFK killed at the height of America's cold war with the Soviet Union President Kennedy was pursuing foreign policy objectives that were anathema to the national security establishment namely he turned down recommendations to invade Cuba on three occasions once in 1961 and twice in 1962 let me elaborate on that in 1961 when the Bay of Pigs invasion the Exile invasion sponsored by the CIA approved by Kennedy failed and failed immediately the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the CIA pressured President Kennedy to intervene militarily and to save the invasion he refused because he had warned the other federal agencies before the Bay of Pigs was launched that under no circumstances would US forces be involved he was willing to help freedom fighters recapture their homeland he was not willing to involve the US military in an aggressive war in this hemisphere against a Latin American neighbor so he decided he would rather take one on the chin and admit some embarrassment to the United States that its exile invasion that it had sponsored had failed rather than be a liar so he chose not to be a liar and to stick by his guns an interview with Allen Dulles many years later former director of the CIA revealed that Dulles believed at the time of the Bay of Pigs that the president would do whatever was required to save the operation no matter how the operation unfolded Daniel Schorr former CBS newsman expressed his opinion on NPR radio a few years ago that President Kennedy was the victim of a covert operation in the Bay of Pigs in which

operation in the Bay of Pigs in which many of the people who launched the Exile invasion knew it was likely to fail and didn't care and thought that it would suck the president and force him to commit US military resources to retaking Cuba that's an opinion I concur with there were two other occasions when President Kennedy opted not to invade Cuba one was in the spring of 1962 and actually in the spring of 62 he refused twice or rather his administration did the first refusal was when he rejected Operation Northwoods now Operation Northwoods these pretexts for invasion died at some level we don't know whether it died at detectives desk at secretary McNamara desk or at the White House but it died chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Lyman Lemnitzer who had a very rocky and very contentious relationship with President Kennedy brought up the subject again at a meeting in March and the president summarily dismissed the idea of unilateral US military invasion or u.s. pretexts for starting a war he some airily rejected this attempt by Lemnitzer to resurrect the Northwoods idea and a month later on April 10th of 1962 the Joint Chiefs of Staff sent a blistering memo to the Secretary of Defense this memo dated April 10th 62 was a lecture of scolding and a tutorial to Robert S McNamara telling him that the existence of a communist regime in Cuba was incompatible with his security requirements of the US and the Western Hemisphere that we had to invade with US forces immediately that we should do it right away before we let the reserves go home they also said that they thought we

home they also said that they thought we could invade Cuba without the risk of general war general war was the code name in those days for a worldwide nuclear conflict so they thought we could do it and get away with it without the risk of general war and they demanded that it be done in the near future we don't know what McNamara's response was but it didn't happen so that's really two occasions back to back in the spring of 62 where Kennedy refused to invade President Kennedy's final refusal to invade Cuba occurred during the Cuban Missile Crisis and it was the one act that I think the national security establishment never forgave him for the consensus during the Missile Crisis was that the United States should bomb the hell out of Cuba and follow with a US military invasion to make sure once and for all that the Castro regime was taken down and that all the missiles were removed President Kennedy instructed the military to prepare for invasion and did so in full sight of the world and indeed that was one of the strategies that worked in our favor is that the our adversaries knew that we were preparing to do so if necessary so they took the threat of invasion seriously once the Cuban Missile Crisis was resolved through diplomacy instead of through invasion President Kennedy had a meeting with the Joint Chiefs of Staff to thank them for their assistance and advice during the crisis the meeting was not anything like he had hoped it would be it was acrimonious and contentious and general LeMay in particular as well as Admiral Anderson the head of the Navy expressed extreme displeasure I told the president we lost we should wipe them out we should invade today and wipe them out we've lost it's the biggest defeat in our history etc etc etc Admiral Anderson said we've been had it was general LeMay that said it's the biggest defeat in our history we should wipe them out today I don't think these people ever forgave the president for refusing to invade Cuba during the Missile Crisis and I think that more than any other factor this acrimony was the proximate cause of the beginning of the assassination plot many things occur during 1963 in which President Kennedy was rapidly changing the course of American foreign policy at the height of the Cold War all of these things upset the same group of people the people who ran the CIA and the people in the Pentagon but that was just adding insult to injury the main injury in their eyes was failure to invade Cuba Cuba was the obsession of the national security establishment from 1959 on and I think it was the proximate cause of the assassination plot President Kennedy's decision not to invade of course I'm one of the people that's extremely grateful today that he did not do so there's one more reason that President Kennedy's Cuba policy was completely unacceptable to the national security establishment and by this I mean the Pentagon and CIA President Kennedy we now know was engaged in secret negotiations or or I should say negotiations that he thought were secret to develop better relations with

to develop better relations with Castro's Cuba so instead of invading Cuba and removing the Castro regime which is what the national security establishment wanted him to do President Kennedy was attempting to establish communication channels with Castro through his secret emissary ambassador Bill Atwood late in 1963 and ambassador Atwood was using a journalist a reporter named Lisa Howard they were both making phone calls and Lisa Howard's phone calls in particular were being monitored by the NSA and being intercepted so this attempt at Rob proche Mont with Castro's Cuba in which the message was going to be we can live with your government and we can normalize relations providing you cut your ties with the Soviet Union if you've kicked out the Russian advisors and you suffer your economic ties with the Soviet Union all of our good relations can be restored and you have no reason to fear of the United States that was the policy toward which Kennedy was moving he made that policy clear to a French journalist Jean Danielle Danielle delivered the message to Fidel Castro that Kennedy had some sympathy with the Cuban Revolution that all things could be restored to normal relations if the right conditions were met and on that very day President Kennedy was assassinated so knowledge of this secret attempts at a rapprochement with Cuba by the national security establishment certainly didn't help Kennedy's cause and they were surely aware of it in September and October in November of 1963 so this has to be added to another one of the reasons why President Kennedy was killed history tells us today what we didn't know in 1963 the Soviet Union not only shipped

1963 the Soviet Union not only shipped and set up 36 medium-range ballistic missiles with one Megaton nuclear warheads on Cuba in an attempt to prevent a u.s. invasion and to equalize the nuclear imbalance which was in which they were at a great disadvantage at the time but they also shipped to Cuba to protect the medium-range nuclear missiles 102 battlefield nuclear weapons now about four of these were nuclear mines for use underwater I think six were nuclear bombs that could have been delivered by the il-28 medium bombers but the majority of these were missiles that would have been fired at invasion ships or invasion beaches in the event of a US invasion twelve of the battlefield nukes were Luna missiles which had very small nuclear warheads which nevertheless could have destroyed ships and killed a lot of soldiers on the beach there were 80 so-called fkr cruise missiles which were like miniature unpiloted drone MiG's Megg aircraft with Hiroshima's sized nuclear warheads inside which could have destroyed a city or a naval base like Guantanamo in fact that was the plan during the Missile Crisis unknown to us at the time one of the Soviet commanders had moved three fkr missile batteries close to Guantanamo Bay this was revealed in the book by Michael Dobbs called eight minutes to midnight he was intending to fire those in the event of a US invasion there's no no bones about it Guantanamo Bay would have been destroyed by nuclear fire and the nuclear escalation would have begun worldwide probably when the battlefield nukes

probably when the battlefield nukes were introduced into Cuba the rules of engagement at that time were that the local commanders had permission to fire the battlefield nuclear weapons in the event of a US invasion and in the event they could not contact Moscow I want to repeat that the local commanders had permission to use the nuclear weapons on their own the battlefield nukes in the event the u.s. invaded Cuba on the day that President Kennedy made his Missile Crisis speech on October 22nd 1962 at that time an alarmed premier Khrushchev in the Soviet Union rescinded the authority for the local commanders in Cuba to use the battlefield nukes but the fact remains that many of these Soviet military people who were in Cuba at the time have been interviewed subsequently and they have said in no uncertain terms that if there had been an invasion they would have used the weapons they were not going to ignominiously surrender to the Americans and raise their hands they would have used the weapons on the American invaders and quite frankly world war 3 would have begun because then the American president would have had no choice but to retaliate with nuclear fire somewhere else in the world against the Soviet Union and that would have quickly escalated into World War 3 so I'm very grateful as I said that President Kennedy did not invade because it would have resulted in a catastrophe the CIA knew nothing about the battlefield nuclear warheads that were on Cuba they knew nothing about the 102 battlefield nukes the CIA had only discovered one type of cruise missile a prior to the end of the missile crisis and that was near the very end of the crisis on Thursday

very end of the crisis on Thursday October 25th the CIA discovered in photography that there were some frog missiles on the island they didn't know whether the frogs had nuclear warheads or not it's unclear what the CIA told President Kennedy about the frogs we still don't know that information is still classified but the planning throughout the entire Missile Crisis was made on the assumption that we could invade with near impunity with the knowledge that the Soviets wouldn't be able to seriously oppose us so though so those assumptions were wrong on two camps we did not know about the battlefield nukes and the United States seriously underestimated the number of Soviet troops on the island and only later realized that the forces were much more robust and much larger than they had suspected at the time and when the Americans began to learn American Historians and prior officials former officials such as secretary McNamara begin to learn in 1992 and 3 that the Soviets had hit battlefield nukes in Cuba they were absolutely terrified petrified McNamara in particular became quite emotional on national television in a Larry King interview and was horrified at what would have ensued because he knew how close we were to invasion so I'm very grateful that we didn't invade but of course at the time the Pentagon and the CIA were very resentful that President Kennedy chose not to invade Cuba during the Missile Crisis the Vietnam withdrawal orders were cemented without any doubt by Robert McNamara at the May 1963 SEC def conference in Hawaii we now know that in Sam 263 National Security action memo 263 was issued on October 11th 1963

263 was issued on October 11th 1963 codifying and formalizing that withdrawal McNamara discussed it at length during the SEC def conference in May 63 in Hawaii but it was made a presidential order by NCM 263 in October of 1963 and that in Sam also specified in the fine print as it were that all US forces were to be withdrawn from Vietnam by the end of 1965 so the order in the in Sam 263 was to pull out a thousand men by the end of the year and to remove all US forces by the end of 1965 that is a fact it's no longer the subject of debate another reason why I believe JFK was killed was that he was working very hard to end the Cold War and to pursue peaceful coexistence with the Soviet Union President Kennedy's the most important speech in my view was the so-called peace speech at American University in June of 1963 President Kennedy's peace speech was a great act of courage to propose ending the Cold War and proving that you were serious about it by signing a nuclear test ban treaty with your adversary the Soviet Union but that's what he did he not only advocated acceleration of efforts to sign a nuclear test ban treaty he also began to talk about disarmament in that speech so the peace speech at American University on June 10th 1963 to use the graphic metaphor was probably the final nail and Kennedy's coffin if there was anyone in the national security establishment at a high level that was wavering or unsure about the assassination plot at that time I'm sure that that made up their minds for them

that that made up their minds for them President Kennedy was pursuing widespread changes to American foreign policy which would have become permanent in his second term if he had been reelected his reelection seemed imminent and unstoppable to all insiders to everyone in the know everyone know he would be facing Barry Goldwater from the Republican Party everybody knew that he could beat the pants off Goldwater in an election because Kennedy would present himself successfully and truthfully as a moderate and as a change agent in Goldwater would present himself as a warmonger and a hawk which of course is exactly what Goldwater did in 1964 against Lyndon Johnson and he lost that election badly Lyndon Johnson won in a landslide partly because of Kennedy's legacy and Kennedy's memory and partly because of fear of Barry Goldwater by the American people now the peace speech at American University as eloquent as it was was just the tip of the iceberg a President Kennedy early in his term had begun exchanging secret correspondence with premier Khrushchev of the Soviet Union the men were from very different cultures and very different personal backgrounds and they needed this tool to help them better understand each other and to get to trust each other after the resolution of the Cuban Missile Crisis both men were shaken and horrified at how close we had come to general war as the Pentagon called it so their secret correspondence accelerated following the Missile Crisis and continued throughout 1963 along the same themes present in the peace speed so there was a serious man-to-man negotiation underway mano-a-mano between Jack Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev through secret letters during the end of 1962 and throughout 1963 about ways to

1962 and throughout 1963 about ways to end the Cold War so the most visible aspect of this effort on their part to end the Cold War and to deescalate tensions was the successful implementation of a limited nuclear test ban treaty in the summer of 1963 and not only did Kennedy sign a treaty with Soviets not only did his representatives sign the treaty in Moscow but he successfully shepherded this treaty through the Senate and ended up signing the instruments of ratification in October of 1963 it was his proudest achievement but there were going to be other things to come so this secret correspondence was concerned with things like disarmament the natural follow-on to any nuclear test-ban treaty if an arms control agreement of any kind had been consummated in Jack Kennedy's second term that was going to be the reason to justify the American president's visit to Moscow for the first time Jack Kennedy confirmed to close associates like Bill Walton who is the family's emissary later after his assassination he confirmed the close associates that he did intend to visit Moscow he was hopeful that he could do that in his second term and signing a nuclear arms agreement of some kind would have been the perfect capstone and justification for that visit so this secret correspondence unfortunately was not totally secret some letters were completely private between

President Kennedy and Khrushchev and some of the letters were routed through the State Department before they went out and for comment afterwards so this effort wasn't totally secret and it cannot have made anyone in the national security establishment happy at the time in addition to the peace speech and its

addition to the peace speech and its proposal that we signed a nuclear test-ban treaty with the Soviet Union President Kennedy was proposing ending his most popular program with the American people he was proposing ending the Apollo program to land on the moon now the unstated and unspoken goal of Kennedy's space program and the Apollo program was to beat the Soviet Union to the moon to finally gain the upper ground the high ground in the space race so Jack Kennedy and his advisors in 1961 in a state of depression and near panic after the Bay of Pigs fiasco had selected the moon as the best goal to select in which we could definitely beat the Soviet Union in space at the time we were number two and they were number one and at the time number two was last the program was very popular with the Congress it was very popular with big business with the aerospace industry and very popular with the American people everyone felt in their gut everyone felt viscerally that this was our chance to embarrass the Soviets and and to get our pride back and to beat them to the moon everybody was behind this program Jack Kennedy the initiator of the moon landing goal was the one person in government who is having second thoughts he gave his speech to the United Nations in September of 1963 and what she proposed going to the moon jointly with the Soviet Union instead of separately he said why should nations race when they can work together to him it was the best way to demonstrate a new day taunt with the Soviet Union a new cooperation the best way to demonstrate peaceful coexistence and the best way to stop demonizing the Russians

best way to stop demonizing the Russians to work with them in a joint project in space he proposed this in the United Nations in September of 63 the reaction within the American defense establishment and national security establishment must have been abject horror I mean truly initially he did not receive any response from Khrushchev because Khrushchev was a little paranoid and he was afraid that the Americans would try to steal Soviet technology which ended up being a joke because they never did make it to the moon and we landed six times successfully President Kennedy indicated how serious he was about this goal of a joint lunar landing by sending a national curity action to the head of NASA James Webb in November of 1963 in the month of his death he sent a presidential order which he called a national security order which he personally signed to James Webb ordering mr. Webb to begin these cooperative efforts with Soviets of going to the moon together and he wanted reports by mid December President Kennedy did not even sign the Vietnam withdrawal order his National Security Advisor McGeorge Bundy signed in Samm 263 but President Kennedy signed the directive to James Webb he was serious about they taught with the Soviet Union who's serious about ending the Cold War and landing on the moon together even if it had taken longer than we wanted it to take would have been the ultimate symbol of the end of the Cold War of d'etat and of peaceful coexistence as we all know President Kennedy was assassinated and that never happened but it would have been a truly symbolic moment for men of both nations to step out of the same spacecraft and plant the flags of their two countries in the lunar regolith two countries in the lunar regolith those interested in an American Empire and a Pax Americana based on military might in short a cabal of powerful like-minded individuals within the military intelligence industrial complex decided this was unacceptable and cast a secret veto on JFK's life now the assassination was clearly carried out in such a way that it could be blamed on America's two arch enemies at the time the USSR and Cuba the Patsy the falsely accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald had previously defected to the Soviet Union in 1959 likely as part of an intelligence operation and had later engaged in a charade in 1963 in which he pretended to be a supporter of Fidel Castro's communist Cuba his visit to Mexico City in September of 1963 was carefully engineered to implicate both the Soviet and Cuban governments in the assassination

now blaming the assassination on America's two principal enemies had two effects first of all it killed any hope of date on with the Soviet bloc and was probably designed to provoke an invasion of Cuba and second LBJ and Hoover's FBI cynically is the pervasive fear of World War three as an internal excuse for a massive cover-up of the facts and evidence surrounding the assassination the legacy of the JFK assassination fifty years later is not a pleasant one to contemplate the Cold War between the u.s. and USSR ended one generation later than it could have resulting in many billions of dollars in rubles spent on an escalating nuclear arms race countless lives American and Asian were wasted in Vietnam Cambodia and Laos in a wasted in Vietnam Cambodia and Laos in a needless war in Southeast Asia that should not have been pursued JFK understood this before his death and this is why he was withdrawing the American advisors from Vietnam before a hot war could start before the advisors were turned into combat troops at the time President Kennedy was assassinated less than 100 Americans had been killed in Vietnam the slow gradual exposure of the cover-up has been the primary cause of the corrosive loss of faith in the US government most people no longer trust the government we the American people cannot regain our self-respect or our former trust in government until and unless the US government acknowledges that JFK's murder was an inside job a domestic coup and admits that individuals within the federal government covered up the crime during the 1960's in 1970s for those who wish to learn more about the medical coverup and the alteration of the Zapruder film I recommend this book the book that I wrote or you can visit my blog site now this is the address of my blog site inside the AR AR b dot live general comm there are several products available to you via that blog site one is a link to seven in-depth essays that I've written for the future of freedom foundation called JFK's war with the national security establishment a link to mr.
